

reporting HAZARDS.

Work safety starts with YOU. If you spot ANY workplace hazard, report it to your supervisor. Here's six common ones:

Poor Housekeeping & Workplace Congestion

Including spills, objects in the walkway, other slip/fall hazards.

Chemical Hazards or Spills

Detect a chemical hazard by smell, irritation or sight? Report it!

Ergonomic Hazards

If a work task risks injury to the musculoskeletal system (lifting, repetition, awkward motions), it MAY be an ergonomic hazard.

Inadequate Control of Hazardous Energy

If there are Machine Guards, Tags or Locks that are missing, damaged or insufficient to warn you of their power - report it!

Defective Equipment or PPE

If any tools, ladders, machinery don't work properly - or if PPE provided does not protect you effectively - tell your supervisor!

Lack of Training

Request safety training on unfamiliar equipment or materials!
